~~REMOVE, REMOVE~~

editor
Edited by (fnu) Hloucha Hamburg address unknown.
Dittoed; monthly.

Hloucha claims his publication is the official organ of the Hamburg branch of the Alliance of CS Refugees, but the latter disclaims all connection with him, as does its Munich headquarters. Exile and American sources characterize Hloucha as irresponsible and radical; and his publication is said to be radical and sensational, but does not seem to pursue any marked political line.

~~ELIAS EXILU~~

editor
Edited by Josef Nemecek Munich, Karlstr. 42.

Printed; monthly.

Circulation is 3-4,000.

This is the official organ of the Alliance of CS Refugees, which is distributed throughout Germany and Austria. It contains emigre and exile news, information on welfare and resettlement, and some comment on world affairs. The Alliance receives funds from time to time from FEO through Free Europe Citizens' Service. It has been used in the anti-redefection campaign to a considerable extent by FECS. Nemecek is the head of the Alliance, but most of the active editorial work has been done by exiles with journalistic background. Elias Exilu's regular publication has been hampered by personnel problems within this editorial staff.

(Dr) Radomir Luxa is very active as an editor of this publication even though he is now studying at NYU. He is one of the leaders of the Study Commission for Sudeten German Questions, which is a more or less informal group of younger CS exiles, most of whom are members of the Council of Free Czechoslovakia, who independently of the CFC have joined together to study the Sudeten question.

Publ. Austria VIDENSKÉ SVOBODNÉ LISTY

Edited by Josef Jonas, Vienna V, Margaretenplatz 7.
Printed, weekly.
Circulation is 3-4,000.
Its political line combines elements from the CS Social Democratic and from the National Socialist political line. It is considered to be a serious, well-established paper by emigre sources.

Romanian Exile Publications Appearing in Austria and Germany

Publ. W. Hermann

~~WEST EUROPE'S TRIBUNE~~

financing of

editor of

Financed by Constantine Dragan. Went out of business with February, 1955 issue. Formerly edited by ~~Dr. Constantin Dragan~~ and Viktor Stankovich, it reappeared shortly after February but under the name of ~~Eastern Europe Monitor~~ with Honorary Chairman Dragan and still edited by Stankovich. Editorial offices are located at Am Einlass 3, Munich, Germany.

~~EXILUL ROMANESCULUI~~ (Romanian Exile)

Appears irregularly in Munich. This paper reflects totalitarian or old-line IRON GUARD sentiments. Formerly supported by Dragan, the new owner and editor are unknown although the editing office address is given as Munich, Dachauerstrasse 119.

Publ. W. Hermann

~~LEGEA~~ (Law)

Published in Munich and supported by dissident members of the Iron Guard. Chief editor is George Macoveanu, a dissident Iron Guardist and disciple of Hae Ionescu. The paper reflects the Credo of this dissident group which places more emphasis on Christianity. The Credo seems to be a rejection of both the so-called "democrats sponsored by the West" (former leaders of political parties in exile) and of totalitarianism based on adventure and violence. The first and only issue to appear so far had this Credo on the first page. It is identical with the resolution adopted at the Congress of Iron Guard dissidents at Erding, Bavaria, in July, 1954. The address of this publication is at Geibelstrasse 12, Munich. (For more information, see the October 23, 1955, RFE Political Report from the office of the Political Advisor.)

Publ. W. Hermann

~~PATRIA~~ (Fatherland)

Appears in Munich generally every two months. Chief editor is (Gheorghe) Ion Theodorze. Supported by contributions and money allegedly received from the League for Free Romanians, but this is not substantiated. The paper generally reflects the political views of the chief editor who has a fixation against the Free Europe Committee. Articles in this category are usually illogical and largely personal vitriol. Has attacked "Free Europe" on numerous occasions, although moderate in tone against Radio Free Europe. Otherwise the paper is fairly moderate, with articles of general political and social subjects of interest to Romanian exiles. Address: Munich, Minnebergstrasse 13. Also Freising, Postfach 7 Stadt.

~~STINDARDUL~~ (The Flag)

Formerly appeared in Austria, but with sovereignty, the editor, Ion Balian, was forced to move from Innsbruck to southwest Bavaria. Financial support is not well known; in fact, it is something of a mystery in most exile circles. It is thought to come from a variety of sources among which are the German Landmannschaften and the Vatican. Recently, it is thought, support has been garnered from the League of Free Romanians (Farasani). Since the paper is no longer based in Austria, it is considered doubtful that Balian continues
